DETAILED ACTIONResponse to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 02/23/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Goo discloses a method of fabricating a nonvolatile semiconductor memory device where in Fig. 4, n+ heavily doped region 18b is situated inside the p+ heavily doped region 19 which is situated on the substrate 10. Another heavily doped n+ region is formed on the substrate 10. The doped regions 18a, 18b and 19 are adjacent are situated on the source and drain regions of the gate 17 and adjacent to each other via lightly doped region 13. Goo fails to disclose the required plurality number of heavily doped regions. However, Guterman discloses a high coupling ratio electrically programmable ROM where in Figs. 2 and 3, the required plurality number of heavily doped regions are disclosed.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 6-11 allowed.
2. Claims 5 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
Prior art failed to establish the high density ROM structure with the required diode structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 2826

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-4 and rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goo (5,677,215) in view of Guterman (4,422,092)

Regarding Claims 1-4, Goo discloses a method of fabricating a nonvolatile semiconductor memory device where in Fig. 4, n+ heavily doped region 18b is situated inside the p+ heavily doped region 19 which is situated on the substrate 10. Another heavily doped n+ region is formed on the substrate 10. The doped regions 18a, 18b and 19 are adjacent are situated on the source and drain regions of the gate 17 and adjacent to each other via lightly doped region 13. Goo fails to disclose the required plurality number of heavily doped regions. However, Guterman discloses a high coupling ratio electrically programmable ROM where in Figs. 2 and 3, the required plurality number of heavily doped regions are disclosed.

It would have been obvious to one of having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the required plurality number of highly doped regions in Goo as taught by Guterman in order to have a ROM structure with better functionality.

Also regarding Claims 1-4, Chen et al. reference is included as related art.

Art Unit: 2826

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
